

Locating Lost Devices & Friends

The Find My app is organized into several sections, accessible by tapping the tabs at the bottom. On the left, you can find people, in the middle, you can find your own devices, AirTags, and Find My-enabled Bluetooth items, and on the right, there's a "Me" tab with all of your settings and info.

As with the prior Find My iPhone app, all of your Apple products are listed. Devices where you're signed into iCloud and have the Find My feature enabled are locatable through the Find My app.

Flash Drive

SanDisk 256GB
Ultra Dual Drive
USB Type-C - USB-
C, USB 3.1 -
SDDDC2-256G-
G46 - super fast.

Click Here

How to use Apple Mail

Click Here

Check out the club's Classified - For Sale section of the website.

Click Here

Find My app

All of your devices are displayed on a map, and you can zoom in or out to get a better picture of their location. Tapping on a single device provides you with options to get directions to its location in Apple Maps, Play a Sound for locating a nearby lost device, or get a notification when it's found if it's offline.

There's an option to mark a device as lost, which locks the lost device, disables Apple Pay, and allows contact information to be put right on the lock screen, and as a last resort, there's a choice for deleting all of your data.

Almost all Apple products are Find My compatible, including iPhone, iPad, Macs, Apple Watch, AirPods, AirPods Pro, AirPods Max, AirTags and the MagSafe Wallet.

You can set up Separation Alerts in the Find My app, so if you want to make sure your iPhone is always with you or that you don't leave the house without the keys,

More info: Click Here